

Instructions for writing the PhD proposal

The length of the proposal should be up to 15 pages, including text and figures, and not including the Abstract page and bibliography.

The research proposal should be written in English.

The proposal will have a front page with the title of the Thesis, the name of the student, and of the supervisor(s) and the signature(s) of the supervisor(s) that agree that the proposal is submitted.

The proposal should include the following topics:

1. Abstract (half to one page), in Hebrew and English
2. Research topic and Importance (approx. half a page)
3. Scientific background
4. Working hypothesis
5. Research Objectives
6. Experimental plan (methodologies to be used)
7. Preliminary results
8. A table with the project time-schedule (tasks and dates)
9. Bibliography

Once your supervisor(s) have approved (and signed) your research proposal, you need to submit the electronic copy by email to Mrs. Anat Overlander, who will send it to the examiners. The subject of the mail will be 'PhD Research proposal [your name]'. In the email specify the name(s) of your supervisor(s).
